EGSAMP SUMMERSCHOOL – 7-12 september 2025 – Morimondo

Carissimi collegae, dear friends, it is a great pleasure to announce the EGSAMP Summerschool 2025, which will take place 7-12 september in the Abbazia di Santa Maria di Morimondo – thanks to the generous invitation of our friend and colleague Pasquale Porro, who already prepared the ground and organized our stay and the framework programme. Moreover, he provided us with a very generous funding.

The summerschool will be organized within the project For an Archaeology of Conspiracy Theories. The Ethics of Belief from the Middle Ages to Fake News [ArCoTh]. I am sure, the general theme offers a lot of aspects and different approaches, so that it might be interesting to think of a topic which elaborates on such a specific approach. But it has always been the spirit of EGSAMP, to leave it up to the participants to either propose a paper related to the general theme or to explain what they are working on (in particular the PhD project).

I mentioned already the very generous funding. Participants have only to pay for their travel costs. Accommodation and meals will be provided by our host. Please plan your travel for the 7 (arrival) to the 12 (departure) – we will give you later some informations concerning possible flight connections and the preferred Milan airports.

It is not a surprise that the number of participants is limited. So, this letter ends with a call for papers. Please, send your proposal including a short abstract until 30 May 2025 to the following email-addresses:

andreas.speer@uni-koeln.de & pasquale.porro@unito.it

If you are applying to an EGSAMP summerschool for the first time, please, include a short CV.

I am looking forward to meeting many of you in Morimondo and express our thanks to Pasquale for this generous invitation.

Cordiali saluti,
